Introduction

This brochure presents an overview of the rules and regulations concerning the tax implications of qualified long-term care insurance (LTCI). It addresses the tax deductibility or exclusion of premiums paid, and the exclusion of benefits from Adjusted Gross Income (AGI).

We have also included examples of how tax-qualified LTCI premiums are treated, to provide you with guidance relevant to your clients' particular situations.

This is an interpretation of the federal and state tax guidelines by John Hancock's Corporate Law Department. Clients should consult with their legal tax advisor regarding tax issues.

Individual Purchase

Tax-qualified LTCI premiums are considered medical expenses. For an individual who itemizes income tax deductions, medical expenses are deductible to the extent that they exceed 7.5% of the individual's Adjusted Gross Income (AGI). The amount of the LTCI premium treated as a medical expense is limited to the eligible LTCI premiums, as defined by Internal Revenue Code¹ section 213(d), based on the age of the insured individual. That portion of the LTCI premium that exceeds the eligible long-term care insurance premiums is not includable as a medical expense. Table 1 illustrates the allowable deductions:

TABLE 1

AGE OF INSURED BEFORE THE CLOSE OF THE YEAR	2009 LTCI ELIGIBLE PREMIUM DEDUCTION
Ages 40 or Less	$320
Ages 41 to 50	$600
Ages 51 to 60	$1,190
Ages 61 to 70	$3,180
Ages Over 70	$3,980

The 2009 per diem limitation under IRC 7702B(d)(4), regarding periodic payments received under a qualified LTCI contract, is $280.

Eligible LTCI Premium (Table 1)	$1,190
Total Medical Expenses	$5,190 ($4,000 Medical Expenses + $1,190 of Eligible LTCI Premiums)
7.5% of AGI	$4,125
Medical Expenses that Exceed 7.5% of AGI	$1,065 ($5,190 – $4,125)
Total Itemized Deduction	$1,065
AGI Less Itemized Deduction	$53,935 ($55,000 – $1,065)

1. Internal Revenue Code will hereinafter be listed as "IRC," followed by the section numbers.

If an individual purchases tax-qualified LTCI on behalf of a parent who is not a dependent, he/she is not entitled to a medical expense deduction. A dependent is generally someone for whom at least 50% of financial support is provided by the taxpayer. Generally, benefits received from a tax-qualified LTCI policy that was purchased by an individual are non-taxable, and therefore, are excluded from Adjusted Gross Income [IRC 7702B and 104 (a)(3)].

Self-Employed

A self-employed individual can deduct 100% of his/her out-of-pocket LTCI premiums, up to the age-based Eligible Premium amounts listed in Table 1 [IRC 162(l)]. The portion of LTCI premiums that exceeds the Eligible Premium amount is not deductible as a medical expense. The deductible amount includes eligible premiums paid for spouses and dependents [IRC 162(l)]. It is not necessary to meet a 7.5% AGI threshold in order to take a deduction.

However, a self-employed individual may not deduct LTCI premiums during any calendar month in which he/she or his/her spouse is eligible to participate in a subsidized LTCI plan. A subsidized LTCI plan is one for which an employer pays part or all of the premiums for LTCI. Under our interpretation of IRC 162(l)(2)(B), for any month in which a self-employed individual is eligible to participate in an LTCI plan that is fully or partially-paid by the self-employed individual's or his/her spouse's employer, the self-employed individual is not eligible to take the self-employed insurance deduction for eligible LTCI premiums paid under any LTCI plan.

EXAMPLE

BASIC INFORMATION
Age of Self-Employed Individual	55
Gross Income	$60,000
Annual Premium for Tax-Qualified LTCI Policy	$2,000
CALCULATING THE DEDUCTION
Eligible LTCI Premium (Table 1)	$1,190
Gross Income Less Deduction	$58,810 ($60,000 – $1,190)

Generally, benefits received from a tax-qualified LTCI policy that was purchased by an individual are non-taxable, and therefore, are excluded from Adjusted Gross Income.

Partnership Limited Liability Company (LLC) Subchapter S Corporation

Partners of a partnership, members of an LLC that is taxed as a partnership, and shareholders/employees of Subchapter S Corporations who own more than 2% of the Corporation² are taxed as self-employed individuals. The partnership, LLC, or Subchapter S Corporation pays the premium. The partner, member, or shareholder/employee must include the LTCI premium paid on his/her benefit in his/her Adjusted Gross Income, but may deduct up to 100% of the age-based Eligible Premium amount, as listed in Table 1.³ It is not necessary to meet a 7.5% AGI threshold in order to take this deduction.

EXAMPLE

BASIC INFORMATION
Age of Partner	55
Gross Income	$60,000
Annual Premium for Tax-Qualified LTCI Policy	$2,000
CALCULATING THE DEDUCTION
Eligible LTCI Premium (Table 1)	$1,190
Gross Income Less Deduction	$58,810 ($60,000 – $1,190)

Generally, benefits received from a tax-qualified LTCI policy that was purchased by an individual are non-taxable, and therefore, are excluded from Adjusted Gross Income.

2. IRC 1372 provides that a more than 2% shareholder/employee is generally treated as a partner in a partnership, rather than as an employee, for the purposes of the tax treatment of fringe benefits. The deduction hinges on the more than 2% shareholder/employee being treated as a partner and self-employed by participating in a plan in which the employer pays the policy's premiums. [IRC162(l); Rev. Rul. 91-26].

3. [IRC 213(d)(10)].

Subchapter C Corporation

Employer

When a business purchases a John Hancock tax-qualified LTCI policy on behalf of any of its employees, and their spouses or dependents, the corporation is entitled to take a 100% deduction as a business expense on the total premiums paid.⁴ The deduction is not limited to the age-based Eligible Premium amounts listed in Table 1 [IRC 162(a)].

The purchase of a tax-qualified LTCI policy is not subject to any IRC nondiscrimination rules. Therefore, an employer can be selective in the classification of employees it elects to cover (e.g., a select group of officers).

Employee⁵

The entire LTCI premium amount paid by the business is excluded from the employee's Adjusted Gross Income, even if the premium exceeds the Eligible Premium amount listed in Table 1.⁶ This exclusion applies to shareholders/employees (as long as they are treated as employees) in a Subchapter C Corporation and to shareholders/employees who own 2% or less of a Subchapter S Corporation.

EXAMPLE

BASIC INFORMATION
Premium Paid by Subchapter C Corporation	$20,000 ($2,000 premium x 10 individuals)
CALCULATING THE DEDUCTION
Total Deduction	$20,000
CALCULATING THE EXCLUSION
Amount Excluded from Each Employee's Taxable Income	$2,000

Generally, benefits received under an employer-purchased tax-qualified LTCI policy are non-taxable, and therefore, are excluded from the employee's Adjusted Gross Income [IRC 7702B, 104(a)(3) and 105].

4. [IRC 162(a)].

5. For LTCI coverage provided by a closely-held C Corporation, the IRS can challenge tax benefits claimed under an employer-provided plan that covers only shareholders/employees, if they find that the plan is not for employees.

6. [IRC 106, 7702B].

Employer-Pay Contributory Arrangement on Behalf of an Employee

If an employer pays all or a portion of the tax-qualified LTCI premiums on behalf of an employee, the amount paid is deductible by the employer as a business expense.⁷ The deductions are not limited by the age-based limits on Eligible Premium listed in Table 1. The entire employer contribution would also be excluded from the employee's AGI.

If the employer only pays a portion of the premium, the employee is able to include the balance that he/she pays with his/her medical expenses, up to the Eligible Premium amount, and accordingly would be entitled to an itemized deduction for medical expenses that exceed 7.5% of AGI.

EXAMPLE: Employee Deduction

BASIC INFORMATION
Age of Individual	55
Adjusted Gross Income (AGI)	$55,000
Medical Expenses (Excluding LTCI Premiums)	$6,000
Annual Premium for Tax-Qualified LTCI Policy	$2,000
Employer Contribution	$500
Premium Paid by Employee	$1,500
CALCULATING THE DEDUCTION
Eligible LTCI Premium (Table 1)	$1,190
Total Medical Expenses	$7,190 ($6,000 medical expenses + $1,190 of eligible LTCI premiums)
7.5% of AGI	$4,125
Medical Expenses that Exceed 7.5% of AGI	$3,065 ($7,190 – $4,125)
Total Itemized Deduction	$3,065
AGI Less Deduction	$51,935 ($55,000 – $3,065)

7. [IRC 162(a)].

EXAMPLE: Employer Deduction

BASIC INFORMATION
Premium Paid by Employer	$500
CALCULATING THE DEDUCTION
Total Deduction as a Business Expense	$500

Generally, benefits received under an employer-purchased tax-qualified LTCI policy are non-taxable, and therefore, are excluded from the employee's Adjusted Gross Income.

Gift Tax Exclusion

In addition to the annual Gift Tax Exclusion of $13,000 (for 2009) per donee, a donor has the ability to pay for the medical expenses of the donee.⁸ If those medical expenses are tax-qualified LTCI premiums, the exclusion is subject to the age-based limits for Eligible Premium amounts listed in Table 1. An individual (donor) can purchase LTCI policies for family members (donees) and, to the extent that the premiums don't exceed the eligible LTCI premiums, can still maintain the annual Gift Tax Exclusion. If the donor pays more than the donee's eligible premium the excess amount will reduce the donor's annual $13,000 Gift Tax Exclusion.

EXAMPLE: Employee Deduction

BASIC INFORMATION
Annual Gift Tax Exclusion	$13,000
Age of LTCI Policy Recipient (Donee)	55
Annual Premium for Tax-Qualified LTCI Policy (Paid by Donor)	$1,500
CALCULATING THE DEDUCTION
Eligible LTCI Premium (Table 1)	$1,190
Premium Amount that Would Reduce the Annual Gift Tax Exclusion	$310 ($1,500 – $1,190)
Amount of Taxpayer's Remaining Annual Gift Tax Exclusion for Donee	$12,690 ($13,000 – $310)

8. [IRC 2503(e)].

Return of Premium

The refund is included in the beneficiary's gross income and is taxable, to the extent that it was either excluded from the owner's income or deducted by the owner. It must be included in income the year in which it is received.

Health Savings Account (HSA)

Tax-qualified LTCI premiums can be reimbursed through an HSA, tax-free, up to the Eligible Premium amounts listed in Table 1, even if the HSA is offered through an employer-provided cafeteria plan.

Health Reimbursement Account (HRA)

Reimbursements for insurance covering medical care expenses, as defined in IRC Sec. 213(d), which includes qualified long-term care services and qualified LTCI premiums, are allowable under an HRA.

Although employers pay for HRAs, an HRA cannot be provided by salary reduction or IRC Sec. 125 plans. As such, the LTCI premiums cannot be paid on a pre-tax basis through an HRA.

Cafeteria Plan

Tax-qualified LTCI policies cannot be purchased with pre-tax dollars under an employer-provided cafeteria plan. However, LTCI premiums may be paid through an HSA that is offered under an employer-provided cafeteria plan.

Flexible Spending Account (FSA)

Tax-qualified LTCI premiums cannot be reimbursed through an FSA.
